Dear Lucia,

The plants I sent I want treated like children, for they are very rare & beautiful — so to speak — & most of them are rooted — If you have no pots get some of a middling size, & I will pay for them & attend to the whole when I come — the pots do better to be small — rather small — I have sent a tulip & I don't know how many species of Geranium, Rose — Queen Charlotte Washington ivy — the cranthum & there too numerous to mention. They must be kept in the shade till I come certainly & the Calla must have a great deal of water — it is a water plant — I trust you now fully — for there has been a great deal of pains taken to put them up — If you can't get pots readily put them out in any thing & they can be transplanted. Vegetable mould is the earth they like —

I shall be with you soon even you

Yrs.
